Dear Attoyac Bayou Stakeholders,

The next meeting of the Attoyac Bayou Watershed Partnership will be held Thursday, April 3rd in the Nacogdoches County Farm Bureau Conference Facility located at 2302 NW Stallings Drive. Doors to the meeting will open at 5:30 p.m. and the meeting will begin at 6:00 p.m.

The objective of this meeting is to discuss the Attoyac Bayou WPP and comments received from watershed partnership members on the first draft of the plan that was released on February 20th. This initial draft included the completed body of the WPP, but items such as the Executive Summary, References and Appendices were not included. They are currently being developed and will be available for review in the next draft of the plan. Upon its release, we asked partnership members to review this draft and provide comments to us by March 21st. Comments received will be discussed at this meeting along with the planned response to that specific comment.

Once comments have been discussed, consensus to move the WPP forward into the official review process will be sought from the partnership. An overview of the anticipated timeline for the comment period as well as when further revisions and refinements will be made will also be discussed.

Your involvement in this meeting and contributions to discussions on the plan are critical to ensure that the Attoyac Bayou WPP includes your ideas and reflects the sentiments of the Attoyac Bayou Watershed Partnership. This local input is what makes effective watershed plans and ensures that your specific concerns are addressed appropriately.

If you have any questions or concerns regarding the upcoming meeting, please visit the Attoyac Bayou website at http://attoyac.tamu.edu/ or contact the watershed coordinator. We look forward to seeing you on April 3rd.
